Jean MONIN appointed Chief Commercial Operations Officer (CCOO) of the Ethypharm Group

St-Cloud, France – 29 January 2019 – The Ethypharm Group is delighted to announce the appointment of Jean MONIN as Group CCOO. This appointment takes effect on 21 January 2019. He will be joining the Group's Executive Committee.

Jean MONIN, 52, is a Pharmacist and a graduate of the ESSEC Business School. He has a solid background in the Pharmaceutical Industry, with over 25 years' experience including 12 years abroad. He started his career as a Medical Information Officer with Rhône Poulenc in Australia, then developed his managerial skills over time with roles of increasing complexity, mainly in the Marketing and Sales divisions of Aventis France and Sanofi Spain, before being appointed in 2007 as General Manager of Sanofi in Norway, and subsequently in Belgium & Luxembourg. In 2010 he left Europe to take up the position of General Manager of Sanofi's Australia & New Zealand subsidiary. In 2012 Jean moved into "biotechs". He joined Amgen and became the head of the Group's largest European subsidiary as Vice-President General Manager of Amgen France.

Bertrand Deluard – CEO of Group Ethypharm – comments: "Jean's leadership skills, international experience and market awareness will greatly help Ethypharm achieve its ambitious development goals. His expertise will be a key asset in guaranteeing high performance among our commercial operations performance in Europe and around the world. In terms of transformation, Jean will be eager to help implement the Group's strategy, develop our partnerships, strengthen our growth platforms, and support the successful launching of our future products in the areas of pain, addiction and critical care.

"Growth is fundamental if we are to continue delivering essential medicines to our patients. I am very proud to contribute to Ethypharm's commercial success, as talented people throughout the company maintain an impressive track record of transforming their business to deliver this growth" adds Jean MONIN - Chief Commercial Operations Officer (CCOO) of the Ethypharm Group.
